

Signing up for the New Jersey Do Not Call List has been very effective at eliminating unwanted telemarketer solicitation calls in my home. Any changes to over rule that law would be unfair to the residents who do not want to have sales calls invading their homelife. Telemarketing interferes private home life. It is a rude and inconsiderate business practice. I pay for my phone, not the telemarketers and I do not want them using my phone at all. If they do, then they should be paying for use of my phone and my time for answering the calls. For the sake of peace and quiete in my family's home after a long day at work, school, and activities, I do not want have my dinner or any other family time interupted by rude businesses. Please DO NOT LET THE NJ DO NOT CALL LIST LAW BE COMPRIMISED IN ANY WAY !!!!! I like it the way it is..."Don't call me, I'll call you". It should not be any other way. Personally, I think the fed gov't should do more to protect people from these calls, not less.
